ORDER OF RECHABITES.

WHAT THESE TEMPERANCE WORKERS DID DURING THE PAST WEEK.

Sketch of the Oldest Past High Chief. Ruler, Mr. Thomas B. Marche-Meetings of the Various Tents During the Week.

Mr. Thomas B. Marche is the oldest active Past High Chief Ruler in the order, He was born in Washington, D. C., Febreary 23, 1836, and is consequently 55 years old, il years of which he spept as member of the Independent Order of Rechabites. He was initiated in Banner Tent of the Junior Rechabites in 1850, Judge S. C. Mills being the presiding of-ficer of the tent at the time. In 1854 he graduated to the Senior Order, being in-stated in Eagle Tent, No. 296. He was elected Sceretary two weeks afterwards, passed tapidly through the chairs and was chosen a representative to Columbia Dis-trict Tent, No. 24, in 1856 and elected D. F. S. at the first meeting he attended. At that time Dr. W. B. Magruder, afterward Mayor of Washington, was Past District Chief Ruler George C. Henning, the popu-lar clothler and hanker, was District Re-cording Secretary and Preve Lewis, who was assussinated in the present Capitol grounds a few years afterward by the instorious Squirrelly Barrett, was District Chief Ruler. Judge S. C. Mills being the providing of-

Chief Ruler.

In 1886 at the session of the High Tent of N. A. at Utica, N. Y., Brither Marche was elected high corresponding secretary, in which capacity he continued until 1868, when he declined a re-election. The next year, at the session of the High Tent in Baltimore, he was elected high chief ruler and was re-elected the following year at Seracuse, N. Y. He was again elected to that position at Georgetown, D. C. in 1870, and re-elected at Petersburg, Va., in 1880, and at Wheeling, W. Va., in 1881. Under his administration the order presperced and no dissensions disturbed it. va. In 1884. Under his administration the order prespered and no dissensions disturbed it. After his election in 1879 he established, published and edified a semi-monthly paper called the Rickabite in Washington, devoted to the interests of the order, and continued its publication during the greater part of his last three years of service as H. C. R. He was among those present at the Hagerstown High Tent session last year and gave much good advice and encouragement and pointed out many lines of work, any of which would strengthen the order and cause it to enlarge its territory. During the forty-one years he has been connected with the order he has traveled thousands of miles in the order's interest, and throughout the length and breadth of the United States, wherever a tent is located, his name is bounced and revered for his persistent, untiring devotion to the work. He is at present a member of Cammack Tent, No. 68, and continues to take an active interest in the advancement the order is making. It can truly be said that he has been interested in the order more assections.

been interested in the order more consecu-tive years than any other man living or dead. When advice, counsel and en-couragement are wanted the members of the order can turn to him with the as-surance that he will tell them what is best for the institution. The institution of hest for the institution. The entire mem-bership pray that the brother may be spared to the order's host of workers for Heber Tent, No. 19, is regaining her old time prestige in Georgetown. Each meeting seems to be an improvement over the former one. Mr. Henry Meyers was taken in last week. Mr. R. W. Johnson acted as chairman of "good and welfare." Remarks were made, J. H. Gross, W. M. Order, saying we are something like a present to lend a helping hand to the Order, saying we are something like a man who became bankrupt, and going home asked his wife what was in the house. She replied nothing but a half barrel of flour and a half bag of dried apples. He ordered her to make the flour and apples into pies, which she did. He then took the pies and stood on the street to sell them. A man whom he had befriended many times came along and street to sell them. A man whom he had befriended many times came along and seeing his old friend reduced to such straits assured him of his heartfelt sympathy, to which he replied: "I don't need your sympathy, buy a pie." Brother Mahoney closed by urging Christians to help along the work.

Mr. Philip S, Steele was then introduced. He related many thrilling incidents caused by the saloon and closed by calling on the men, women and boys present to unite with the Order. The chairman, Mr. Mitchell, then related several interesting anecdotes and thus closed Union Tent's grand rally. Now for Cammack.

Alexander Wycisk, the only drammer who has worn the iron cross, killed himself in Ratibor. Germany, a short time since. He went to the Franco-Prussian war with the Twenty third Infantry. One afternoon he lay with his comrades behind the wall of a contryard which the French were trying to take by storm. In the heat of the struggle he threw away his drum, anatched a rille from a dying comrade, punched a hold in the wall with a bayoner and began firing on the enemy. When the order to advance from the courtyard on the attacking force was given. Wycisk could not find his drum. The Germans broke over the wall and were immediately within but a few rods of the enemy. Wycisk sprang far ahead, seized a French drammer by the walstband, wrested from him his drum and sticks and began beating the "double quick." For this deed he received the order given only for bravery on the field of battle. Poverty and luability to find work were the causes of his suicide.

That interesting and curious person Foraker, has a great fondness for "soub-issues," whether he appears as the snubissues," whether he appears as the snubber or the snubbed. Once his 'claim' was that a President of the United States had anubeed him. Now it is that he has snubbed a President of the United States.
It appears that Foraker took umbrage at something that was said by a previous speaker at the Republican league Convention, and he vented his spide in saying that Blaine was a great statesman and had 'given us a splendid Administration.' Foraker's temper seems to have run away with his judgment. Something is always running away with his judgment and secreting it. If Blaine, per Harrison, has given us a splendid Administration, it seems that the way to get another is to re-elect Harrison, that he may again submit himself to Blaine. At any rate, the Secretary of State must shudder when he thinks that he may have incurred the support of Foraker. The enmity of that statesman is of no consequence, but his friendship has invariably proved fatal to its objects.
